

What if...

By Chris Domizio

What if

Pollution was not such a thing

The grass would always be green

Helpless animals could live a full life

What if

Everyone had water

While we Waste it

A poor child in Africa would be able to drink the heart and soul of the Earth

If everyone had food

Or money

We would never have to see someone lying on the sidewalk

Trying to survive harsh winters with just a jacket on their back

The World was perfect
